

G. W. Wickersham Points Out Weak Spots in Dry Act

Governor Roosevelt Reads Letter From Law Enforcement Chief—Declares States Should Control Retailing End and National Government the Wholesale End.

New London, Conn., July 16.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, speaking at the Governors' Conference which opened here today, read a letter from George W. Wickersham, head of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission in which Mr. Wickersham points out weaknesses of the Federal Prohibition enforcement Act, and suggested plans for strengthening it.

The letter, described by Governor Roosevelt as the first public expression of the law enforcement chief on the subject, points out that enforcement of the Volstead Act has rested chiefly on the shoulders of the Federal government.

It suggests that some feasible means of dividing the burden of enforcement between states and national government be found and that states be given police jurisdiction over the "retailing" end of the "peculiarly profitable crime" of liquor law violation and the national government retain policing power over the "wholesale" end of the business.

Wickersham's letter assured Governor Roosevelt that prohibition being a "most serious subject" will be one of the chief national problems to be investigated by the Law Enforcement Commission.

Federal Has Borne Brunt. The 18th Amendment, the letter declares, confers upon the states concurrent jurisdiction with the national government for the enforcement of this measure, but "thus far the Federal government alone has borne the brunt of the enforcement. That measure is written into the Constitution of the United States. It seems to me the governor's conference might well consider approaching the Federal government on some feasible proposal to share the burden of enforcement."

"If the national government were to attempt to prevent importation, manufacture and shipment in interstate commerce of intoxicants, the states undertaking internal police regulations to prevent sale, saloons, speakeasies and so forth, the national state laws might be modified so as to become reasonable, enforceable and one great source of demoralizing and pecuniarily profitable crime removed."

The letter closes with an indictment of the American people's attitude toward crime reduction and law enforcement and points to the "evident disrespect for the Volstead Act" and other statutes as a consequence.

Wickersham told Governor Roosevelt in the letter that his commission would investigate the cost of private police protection obtained by firms and individuals because city, local and national police protection is "inadequate."

"No Crime Wave" Says Roosevelt. Governor Roosevelt, speaking on "cooperation of governors on crime problems," urged the conference to appoint a permanent committee that would act as a "clearing house for crime statistics and penal laws so that one governor would always know what another governor's state was doing toward reducing crime."

"There is no crime wave," said Roosevelt. "That's a startling statement to make in face of all the talk that there is, and I say it because I realize that there is no one here or anywhere else who has facts and figures to prove there is a crime problem. Before we can do anything with a problem we must know all about it and we know nothing about crime in our country because we have no figures or facts. This lack is the stumbling block in crime investigation and crime reduction."

The New York governor told the conference that irrespective of all the talk about crimes of violence there are vastly more of other types of crimes, the kind he described as "crimes of the intelligence." These he named as including fraud, embezzlement and perjury, and advised dealing with them in a more stringent manner than is at present being used.

Governor Roosevelt also warned the governors against allowing the federal government to encroach on states' rights and said one of the chief reasons the federal government is "getting away with it" is that public opinion is terribly apathetic. Governor Roosevelt was introduced to the conference by Governor George H. Dorn of Utah, executive chairman and presiding officer at the crime session. Previous to Dorn's talk, Governor John T. Trumbull of Connecticut made an address of welcome to the visiting governors and Governor Harry S. Caulfield of Missouri replied.

Declines To Make Statement. New York, July 16 (AP).—George W. Wickersham, head of President Hoover's commission organized to study the crime problem in the United States, today declined to make any statement amplifying the letter to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in which he admitted defects in federal prohibition enforcement and suggested means to remedy them.

The letter was written to Mr. Roosevelt from Bar Harbor, Me., and was read by the New York governor today at the governors conference at New London, Conn.

Fire on Central B'way Monday

Five Buildings and Open Shed and Two Automobiles Were Badly Damaged Early Monday Evening—Adjoining Buildings Saved.

Early Monday evening five buildings, an open shed and two automobiles were damaged by fire that broke out in the rear of 642 and 644 Broadway, causing an alarm to be turned in from Box 13, Broadway and Henry street, shortly after 6 o'clock. Through the prompt discovery of the fire and the efficient work of the fire department the fire was kept from spreading to adjoining buildings.

The buildings damaged by the flames were formerly barns that are now used for garage and storage purposes. The buildings in the rear of 644 Broadway were owned by Joseph Palli and the other buildings in the rear of No. 642 were owned by Grant Brinlan.

The fire evidently started in the space between the open shed and one of the frame buildings and when the fire department reached the scene all of the buildings were on fire.

Two of the buildings were owned by Joseph Palli and were used by him for garage purposes. The other buildings were used as garages and also for the storage of furniture by Gregory & Company. One of the buildings was used by Joseph Tesoro, fruit dealer, and occupied as a garage.

A Dodge sedan and a Reo truck were badly damaged by the fire but the other automobiles in the building were gotten out in safety. The furniture destroyed by the fire was mostly porch furniture.

Owing to the fact that all of the buildings damaged by the fire were old and of wooden construction they burned rapidly and the flames spread fast, and had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the buildings or the contents. The fire department worked efficiently, however, and prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings in the vicinity.

The amount of the fire damage is not known, but it is at least partially covered by insurance.

The police department cooperated with the fire department in diverting traffic from Broadway to the side streets while the fire was being fought. Trolley cars were also halted and passengers were forced to transfer until the fire hose was removed from the street.

WADED IN DRINKING WATER, PAID $15 EACH.

West Shokan, July 16.—An interesting and novel case was brought before Judge Fred L. Weidner on Saturday. A party of the city ladies and several children were placed in custody by Constable Claude Bell and Inspector Floyd Goldman, of the Department of Water Supply. The charge against the defendants was wading in and contaminating the waters of the Bushkill stream on the property of the city of New York, which is strictly forbidden by the code of sanitation. The case being the first of its kind to be brought before a local court and in consideration that defendants did not realize the seriousness of the offense, the penalty inflicted on the judge was a fine of $15 each for the ladies and payment thereof suspended, with a warning that future infractions of this nature would be dealt with to the full extent of the law.

DETERMINED TO BRING BACK ENDURANCE RECORD

Houston, Texas, July 16 (AP).—Determined to bring back the refueling endurance record to Texas, Joe Glass and Glenn L. Loomis circled Houston today in their orange and black monoplane "Houston—Billion Dollar City," which they took into the air at 12:21 p. m. yesterday. To break the present record of 246 hours, 43 minutes, 32 seconds, the fliers must remain aloft until a week from Thursday. The refueling ship piloted by Earl T. Showalter made its first contact with the plane last night.

Glass, 28, whose home is Fort Worth, is an aerial pilot for the Texas Air Transport Company. Loomis, 24, is president of the Loomis School of Aviation here.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF HIT AND RUN DRIVER

Cornwall, N. Y., July 16 (AP).—Mary Keesler, 26, of this city, died in Corning Hospital today of injuries inflicted late last night by the automobile of a hit and run driver.

Mary Keesler was found lying on the edge of the highway by a farmer, who told police she evidently was intoxicated. While he was assisting her along the road a speeding automobile hit her and did not stop, he said.

District Attorney Guy W. Cheney is starting an investigation to trace the girl's companions earlier in the evening, acting on the assumption that she had been ejected from a car and left lying on the road.

Boy Reported Missing

About 2:30 o'clock this morning police headquarters were asked to search for Charles Smith, 12, of 12 Hudson street, who had been missing from home since 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. It was supposed he was in company with another boy named Levine of 165 Hunter street.

Playground and Farm Board Begins Its Work At St. Mary's

Considerable progress has been made in excavating and also leveling the grounds back of St. Mary's Convent and School, for the purpose of establishing facilities for recreation for the younger generation.

With the increase of automobiles, the children today are subjected to great hazards and our hospital records bear out the sad evidence of mangled forms, and in a few instances, the loss of life because of the absence of such means of recreation that has become very necessary for the safeguarding of the lives of these little folks.

An extensive order for playground paraphernalia has been placed with Sweeney & Schronger, sporting goods distributors of Fair street, and it is anticipated that a complete playground, with the accessories will be in operation for the school children at the beginning of the September term.

The pastor, Dean Scully, has been very much encouraged by the interest on the part of his own people, as well as the citizens of the immediate environment. The undertaking of such a progressive and necessary improvement has entailed some expense, but it is more than justified by the fact that such an improvement will reduce very much the dangers that accompany the playing of children on streets, and the placement of the proper recreational equipments under supervision, that will control and guide the physical activities of the younger folks.

The excavating of dirt has served well in filling in the depressions near the church property, that will eventually serve as a parking space for the many cars that convey the parishioners and visitors to the services at St. Mary's Church.

Variety of Cases In Police Court

One Man Attempted to Direct Traffic While Intoxicated—Trio of Men Arrested for Public Intoxication—Traffic Cases Before Court.

Eight cases of assorted nature were brought to the attention of Judge Augustus Shufeldt in police court this morning. Some were for public intoxication and others for various traffic violations.

Jacob E. Anderson, who said he lived in Bogota, N. J., was arrested Monday night for using loud and vulgar language and attempting to act as a traffic officer at Wall and John streets. His antics cost him $10.

Clarence Martin of Chicago, David Sweeney of Cambridge, Mass., and Victor Hamilton of New Rochelle, were a trio picked up for public intoxication on North Front street. All three were fined $5 each.

Sol Cohen of Tannersville parked his car outside of another car on Wall street, and today forfeited $10 cash bail for failure to answer to a charge of double parking.

George Tisler of Ulster Park, who parked his car in the restricted area on Wall street, was fined $5.

Donald E. Williams of Clinton, N. J., arrested charged with parking in the restricted area on Wall street, had his hearing adjourned to Thursday.

Salvatore Camizaro of Brooklyn, arrested Monday by Linder H. Churchill, who charged the Brooklyn man with reckless driving on Foxhall avenue, had his hearing adjourned for a week. He furnished $25 cash bail for his appearance at that time.

Great Ovation For Poincare

Paris, July 16 (AP).—Premier Raymond Poincare was cheered long and heartily at noon today as he finished his four-day speech favoring ratification of the war debt accords with America and Great Britain in the Chamber of Deputies. All the deputies except the Communists jumped to their feet in an enthusiastic and striking ovation to the prime minister.

The ovation was for Poincare the man, more than for Poincare the prime minister, however. Many of those cheering him were among his most bitter opponents on questions of state.

The premier had just, for the hundredth time, told parliament the debt accords must be ratified and any reservations expressed separately.

The premier recalled again the address of President Hoover at Toledo, when he was secretary of commerce, in which he explained the money was loaned by American taxpayers. Therefore, M. Poincare said, there can be no hope of dodging the issue—"the debts must be paid."

Mysterious Double Shooting.

Albany, N. Y., July 16 (AP).—Matthew O'Donnell was killed and a young woman said to be his wife was wounded, probably fatally, in a double shooting in a rooming house here today. The landlady told police who rushed to the scene that she heard shots and ran downstairs in time to see a man run out the front door with a pistol in his hand. O'Donnell died within a few minutes after being taken to the hospital.

Chairman Legge Promises to Work Long and Hard—Lies in Wait—Board Lucky Break at the Start.

Washington, July 16 (AP).—Endorsed by only one promise from its firm-jawed, cautious-sounding chairman, Alexander H. Legge of Chicago, the Federal Farm Board was already engaged today at the task of fulfilling his pledge to "work long and hard."

A spokesman for the wheat growers was still missing from its membership, owing to the difficulty President Hoover has encountered in finding reasonably unified support for such an appointee, but the urgency of the wheat problem apparently had been alleviated by the sharp rise in prices on the Chicago market, which Legge described as "a break of luck at the start."

Confronted with a number of requests for aid from representatives of various commodities besides wheat, out of the $150,000,000 now available and the $350,000,000 additional authorized by Congress, the seven men who have given up their private connections in business and agriculture to attack the "multitude of agricultural problems," lost no time in beginning with Secretary Hyde as ex-officio colleague, the work before them.

They "hope," as Legge cautiously phrased it, to get something done which will be of benefit to the producers of this year's crops.

Within a few hours after they were formally organized yesterday at the White House, and before their second meeting with President Hoover at dinner last night, they were established in temporary quarters in the Mayflower Hotel. Today they had at their disposal a corps of clerks and stenographers and, as the secretary to the board, Chris L. Christensen, chief of the cooperative marketing division of the Agriculture Department.

Much of the board's work is to be directed toward the strengthening and building up of cooperative and other agricultural organizations already in existence. One of the first major tasks looking to that end will be the selection of advisory councils for different commodities. These agencies are to preside over stabilization corporations to be set up by producers through their cooperative marketing organizations and financed out of the board's $500,000,000 revolving fund.

Another big task which the members confronted within the first 24 hours of the board's existence was the beginning of a study to acquaint themselves with the full extent of their authority under the farm relief law.

Washington, July 16 (AP).—Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, would have all foreign diplomats who disregard Washington's traffic regulations sent home.

The Senator, who recently had the District of Columbia police prepare a statement showing how many diplomats had been accused of violating the traffic regulations, said he would ask the Senate to recommend such procedure to the state department.

The report of the police showed that 34 diplomats and attaches had been stopped and warned of traffic regulations in 11 years, none being arrested because of their diplomatic immunity. The offenses for which they were halted ranged from minor infractions of the rules to driving while intoxicated. The list included several of ambassadorial and ministerial rank.

TORTURED WOMAN WITH LIGHTED CIGARETTES

Chicago, July 16 (AP).—Bandits who used glowing cigarettes in an attempt to torture the woman proprietor into revealing the hiding place of her jewels, robbed a North State street shop of $1,000 worth of dresses last night.

Lois Parchman, the proprietor, threw her rings under a counter when the two men entered. The bandits applied lighted cigarettes to her face and arms when she refused to tell where the rings were. She screamed and was knocked unconscious.

PRESIDENT WILL ACT AS HONORARY REFEREE

New York, July 16 (AP).—President Hoover has consented to serve as honorary referee of the international track and field meet between the Oxford-Cambridge and Princeton-Cornell teams at Travers island on Saturday although he cannot be present in person.

In accepting the President said: "The character building influence of clean sports is such that they deserve every encouragement, and besides that, I should have been glad of the opportunity to welcome these young men visiting our shores."

Moonlight Flying Governors to Caused Rumors And Excitement

A little moonlight flying on the part of Phil Harry Mollineaux Monday evening caused considerable excitement in the city and caused many rumors to spread. Taking advantage of the brilliant moonlight, Mollineaux took aloft plane No. 4511 and sailed for some time over Kingston and vicinity enjoying the view by moonlight.

After making a number of early evening flights he apparently put the plane away for the night but later returned to the field and stationed his automobile at the upper end of the runway for a night light and took off. The plane had not been in the air long before a crowd began to gather and soon fifty cars were on the field watching the plane which is equipped with lights. Mollineaux made three or four hops from the field and in each instance made perfect landings under the guidance of the lights from the car.

Mr. Powell owner of the flying field was in bed when he heard the roar of an airplane engine. After listening to the motor for some time he believed there was a visiting plane attempting to locate the field. Feeling sorry for the pilot who apparently was attempting to locate the field he arose and went to the field to place a signal for the "lost" aviator. It was then that he discovered No. 4511 was aloft and enjoying the scenery instead of being in distress.

The local police received a number of calls from people who heard the plane and thought it was a ship attempting to locate the field. Several people feeling sorry for the aviator demanded that something be done to help him in landing. One report was circulated that a plane had failed to locate the Powell airport and had landed in a field on Manor avenue. Sergeant Simpson responded with the police car but found there was no plane in the vicinity or had a plane made a forced landing there.

After several flights about the country Mr. Mollineaux landed and retired for the night not knowing that his flights had caused so much speculation among Kingston folks.

The view from aloft on moonlight nights is said by pilots to be an unusually pretty sight and Mollineaux will probably have passengers on his next night flight.

THREE OUT OF 314 HOLD ANNUAL DINNER

St. Paul, Minn., July 16 (AP).—The Last Man's Club, organized 46 years ago by 314 members of B Company, First Minnesota Volunteers, will hold its annual dinner Sunday, but what once was a joyous banquet will be this year only a quiet dinner by three old men. John F. Goff, 86, Peter O. Hall, 91, and Charles Lockwood, 87, are all that are left of the gallant company.

In the center of the table Sunday night will be the bottle of wine which was obtained at the first gay gathering and which is to be used by the last living member to drink a toast to his departed comrades.

Two years ago the same three who are to meet Sunday opened the bottle and drank to the memory of the 311 who had died. The bottle was sealed, so that the original intention—a last toast by the last man—might be carried out. The dinner is held each year on the anniversary of the Battle of Bull run.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS CAUSE ACCIDENT ON ROAD TO GLASCO

Glaring headlights were said to have been the cause of an automobile accident at 12:45 o'clock Monday morning in which the occupants of one car were injured. The accident occurred near the residence of LeRoy Coons on the road leading into Glasco. The car contained Mr. and Mrs. Soluck and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Bober, who resides on a farm near East Kingston. The lights of an approaching car caused Mr. Bober, who was driving to become confused, and losing control, his car left the road and crashed into a telephone pole. All of the occupants were taken into the home of Mr. Coons and Dr. Hugh S. Chidester attended them. Mrs. Soluck sustained cuts on her right hand and a fracture of the right ankle and was removed to the Kingston Hospital. The men were cut about the head and the children suffered only slight injuries. Mrs. Bober escaped injury.

MAX HAZEN ARRESTED AS RESULT OF AUTO CRASH

Max Hazen of this city was brought before Police Justice Bennett in Saugerties on Monday on complaint of Felix Allaine of Brooklyn, who charged Hazen with driving a car recklessly and damaging the Allaine car in a collision at 1:40 o'clock that morning on Barclay Heights. Hazen was represented by Attorney Grant M. Britton, and a settlement was effected and the charge withdrawn.

Major Kubala Tried to Rescue His Comrade

Major Kubala, of the Polish training ship Iskra, arrived at Santa Cruz at 5 p. m. Sunday and the body was taken from the vault and placed aboard it for transportation to Poland. It was taken enroute to the island's little church for a final requiem. The coffin was covered with Polish and Portuguese flags.

The Iskra will bring the body and Major Kubala to Horta today. Major Kubala's condition has caused no anxiety. According to the Graciosa island doctors he should be all right in a few days. He received painful injuries on the face and the head when the plane landed. Both his eyes are still badly swollen. First aid was rendered him at the landing place by a chemist from Santa Cruz, who took a few stitches in his face. Kubala had to be carried by hand to a waiting motor car and then to the hospital. The death of his companion affected him deeply.

It was just after 7 p. m. local time (3 p. m. E. S. T.) Saturday when the big gray plane appeared over Graciosa. It made three circles around the village of Santa Cruz, on the third turn coming very low. The residents thought from this and the sound of the plane's missing motor that the fliers wished to descend.

No one was able to indicate a suitable landing place. Almost no one on the island had ever seen an airplane before. Nearly all the level places in the district are dangerous and unsafe for landing of an airplane, as they are strewn with rocks and boulders and pitted with holes. The plane suddenly descended, however, in a field a few miles from Santa Cruz and the village's entire population rushed to the scene. It was found to be upside down. When it hit the ground it had crashed through a low stone wall. One wing was caught by the walls. This swung around and capsize it.

The two aviators were found inside, strapped in their seats. While the rescuers worked there was a terrific explosion, the force of which threw the rescuers to the ground.

The plane immediately caught fire and several of the rescuers were burned. They saw the flames licking at the body of Idzikowski, but they never abandoned their labor until they felt he was dead and that it would be futile and dangerous to try further. The scene drove Kubala, painfully injured, almost to frenzy.

COSTE NOT LIKELY TO TRY AGAIN THIS YEAR

Paris, July 16 (AP).—Dieudonne Coste probably will not make another attempt during this year to fly the Atlantic. He has not abandoned his plan, but when asked when it might be carried out he replied hesitantly: "There is no hurry."

Friends believed that in view of the disinclination of the French government to permit further transatlantic flights the world's first across-Atlantic flight would wait again until next year.

In a signed article in Excelsior today Captain Coste said his Paris to New York flight was abandoned only through the intervention of certain unfavorable weather conditions. Although very rare he believed they would occur at some time. It is then he will make a fresh start.

HEARING AT ALBANY IN LAKE KATRINE CASE.

There will be a hearing before the Public Service Commission at Albany on Friday, July 19, at 2 p. m. daylight saving time, in the matter of the complaint of Lake Katrine (Genesee) vs. the N. Y. C. & H. R. Co., asking that the grade crossing of the West Shore Railroad (Genesee) and the Neighborhood road highway south of the Lake Katrine station in the town of Ulster, Ulster county, be protected by flashing light signals.

11 Girls Killed In Truck Mishap

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, July 15 (AP).—Happy at the end of a perfect day's picnicking, eleven Honduran high school girls yesterday went to their death when the truck in which they were riding crashed into a thousand-foot abyss near Sauce, a few miles from here.

Several of 22 other girls who were injured are near death. The driver of the truck was killed outright. Salvador Corleto, minister of public works, was seriously injured in attempting to reach the bottom of the abyss to aid in extricating the bodies from the wreckage of the truck.

The class of girls, most of them approaching young womanhood, had been to a spot not far distant from the scene of the accident for a box lunch, dancing, and native games. After a day spent in fun they piled into the truck for the trip back to Tegucigalpa. Many of them were seated about the edges of the truck, with their feet hanging over the sides.

It was not known exactly what caused the truck to go over the side of the road, but it was thought possibly the driver's attention was distracted momentarily at a dangerous spot in the road by the laughter and gaiety of the girls behind him.

Activity at Y. M. C. A. Camp

The boys at the Y. M. C. A. camp for boys have been making the most of the wonderful camp weather of the past week. Last Saturday afternoon an American Red Cross life saving service examiner, Miss Alice McLaughlin, visited the camp and gave the boys the preliminary part of the Junior Red Cross life saving examination. Nine boys completed the first part, which gives credit to "Coach" Kline's work with the boys in this branch of camping. McKinnis, a watermelon.

Smith, Schroeder, Marx, Dykes, Ten Eyck, Musson, Balis and Schreiber were the ones who passed. The finale will be taken on Friday afternoon.

On Sunday afternoon the chaplain of the camp, the Rev. A. J. Coffey of Phoenixia, conducted the service. Paul Cuyugan of the Philippines left camp on Sunday for the Adirondacks and his place will be filled by C. H. Kim of Korea.

The five, William A. Dalton of Highland will be the chaplain of the camp this week.

This evening the Y. M. C. A. Club will host the camp and hold their weekly meeting at the lodge. Afterwards they are playing the boys for a watermelon.

King Passed Restful Night

July 15 (P)—Much as to the condition of King which remained after yesterday's operation performed on the morning of the 14th, the patient was with an additional favorable prognosis from his physicians this morning.

His Majesty's four doctors visited him this afternoon and found he had passed a restful night. They reported that they were satisfied with his condition and the local physicians for the treatment of which the operation was performed.

NEW GERMAN LINER BIDS FOR OCEAN SUPREMACY

Berlin, July 15 (P)—German shipping makes a renewed bid for wide patronage this afternoon with the departure of the luxurious 14,000-ton liner, the Bremen, for New York.

Leaving Bremerhaven, the ship will call at the channel ports of Southampton and Cherbourg, and probably will attempt to make a new westward crossing speed record from there to America. A six-day crossing from Bremerhaven is expected.

One of the ship's chief construction engineers said: "Despite repeated press statements that the Bremen is not out to capture the ribbon of the ocean, there is no doubt she will try to establish a new record on her maiden trip."

The westward crossing record, made by the Mauretania in July, 1915, is five days, three hours, 17 minutes.

The departure of the Bremen today has been hailed as one of the most important moments in Germany's post-war life, the beginning of the rehabilitation of her shipping, which suffered a nearly fatal blow with the loss of the Vaterland, (Leviathan), and the Imperator (Berenaria) and other vessels at the end of the war.

MISSING MASSACHUSETTS GIRL FOUND IN SYRACUSE

Syracuse, July 15 (P)—Miss Loretta Smith, 21, North Tewksbury, Mass., missing from her home since last Saturday, is safe in Syracuse, the bride of Laurence Vektor of this city, according to the bridegroom's father. He promised to have the young bride telephone her mother, Mrs. Annie Smith, an invalid, who is said to be prostrated by her daughter's absence.

Vektor, a former resident of Lowell, Mass., has been friendly with the girl for several years. He and his father, a resident of Tewksbury and young Vektor called on Miss Smith. He invited her to a ride during which they were married and came on to Syracuse, the father said.

Managers Sale At R. & G. Store

Department Managers Will Conduct Second Annual Nine-Day Sale, Starting Thursday—Big Department Store Fall of Activity.

The department managers of Rose and Gorman store will again handle a nine-day sale the same as last year. The sale will start Thursday of this week and continue until Saturday of next week. The prices at this sale will be extremely low, the managers report.

Each department manager will select the items in his or her department and by a volume record of past years will mark down these articles practically to cost price. This procedure the managers state will assure the buying public of tremendous values while a volume of business is maintained for nine days.

The idea was formulated by the department heads last year and carried through to an unusual degree of success. A friendly spirit of rivalry exists between departments, each striving to report an increased volume during the nine days of selling. During the sale large spaces of advertising will be devoted to the various exceptional bargains, and the large amount of advertising and the great reductions in the various departments this sale promises to surpass that of last year by a wide margin.

Demonstrations Held in Moscow

(By The Associated Press.)

Despite the expressed belief in China that no further serious consequences are expected from the recent seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway, considerable tension was reported to have developed in Moscow.

International circles in Paris, London and Tokyo have expressed doubt as to the developments of any hostilities, but there were rumors of troop movements along the Siberian-Manchurian border.

Mass demonstrations against the "Chinese Fascists" were held in Moscow during the night and the Press published unofficial "warnings" that Russia would oppose violations of her rights.

A three-day ultimatum reported to have been sent to China by Russia demanding a conference to clear up the situation expired today, but delay in its transmission caused belief that this time limit would be extended.

Censored dispatches from Hsibin indicated Russian troop movements toward the Siberian border, while Chinese advices from Peking reported that Russian troops had crossed the border last week and destroyed a Chinese ship on the Black river. These latter advices were not confirmed.

Foreign Minister Wang at Tsing-tao denied knowledge of the Soviet ultimatum and said he did not expect further serious consequences.

Communists in Berlin held a demonstration yesterday against the Chinese consulate and extra police guards were on duty there today.

RECRUITING IN KINGSTON FOR THE 26TH INFANTRY.

Corporal John P. Giblin, U. S. A. Recruiting Service, has arrived in Kingston and taken charge of recruiting for the U. S. A. in this district. He has his headquarters in the Post Office Building.

Corporal Giblin has had more than 21 years service in the Army, during which time he has been stationed in many parts of the world. He served in France from August, 1917, to October, 1919, and was with the Army of Occupation in Germany later, returning home in April, 1922, with the last of the American armed forces.

The Corporal states that there are still a few vacancies open in the 26th Infantry and suggests that this is a fine opportunity for any who may wish to enlist in this famous regiment of the First Division. The regiment will leave for Camp Perry, Ohio, the last of July, to take part in the National Rifle Match. Its home station is at Fort Ontario and Niagara and Madison Barracks, New York.

An abandoned jail at Crown Point Center, N. Y., is being remodeled and will be used as a residence by one of the citizens, who has purchased the dilapidated structure.

Belated Honors Paid

First British Aeronaut

In honor of James Sadler, the first British aeronaut, a memorial tablet has been erected at Oxford.

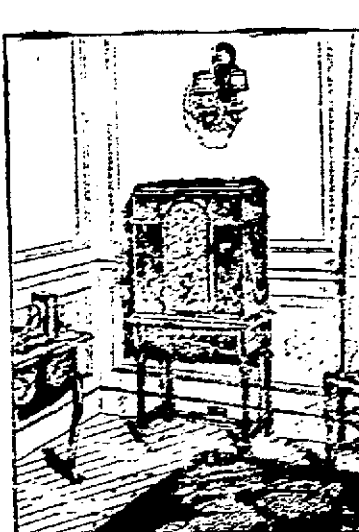

On October 4, 1874, he "did astonish the people by ascending into the atmosphere with firmness and intrepidity." His balloon was 179 feet in circumference, and carried a small brazier, suspended under the envelope, in order to maintain heated air to give the power of ascension. It shot up to a height of 3,000 feet, and was blown northwest.

Unfortunately, Sadler dropped the fork used to handle the fuel, and it is said he avoided coming down in a wood by using oars. Eventually, after half an hour's flight, he had traveled about six miles. In his second flight he used hydrogen, and in three minutes was lost to sight in the clouds. Twenty minutes later he came down near Aylesbury, 14 miles away.

For 25 years Sadler worked as a chemist, engineer, and inventor, but when fifty-seven he returned to ballooning. In 1914 he ascended from Burlington house, Herefordshire, before a huge crowd. Subsequently, however, he failed in an attempt to cross from Ireland to England.

REPETITIVE LABOR.

No feature of the machine age is more appalling to some observers than the factory work requiring the doing of one thing over and over always in the same way week after week and year after year. Writers have given expression to their horror of such a monotonous process—the "terror of the machine"—and reformers have deplored the supposed stupefying and soul-stifling effects. But in "My Life and Work" Henry Ford presents another and interesting view of the matter.

"Repetitive labor," he writes, "is a terrifying prospect to a certain kind of mind. It is terrifying to me, but to other minds, perhaps I might say the majority of minds, repetitive labor holds no terrors. In fact, to some types of mind thought is absolutely appalling. To them the ideal job is where the creative instinct need not be expressed. The jobs where it is necessary to put in mind as well as muscle have very few takers. The average worker, I am sorry to say, wants a job in which he does not have to put forth much physical exertion—above all, he wants a job in which he does not have to think. Those who have what might be called the creative type of mind and who abhor monotony are apt to imagine that all other minds are similarly restless and therefore to extend quite unwarranted sympathy to the laboring man who day in and day out performs exactly the same operation."

This is a shrewd observation, with much experience behind it, and doubtless applies accurately enough to the majority of factory workers; among them, however, we may be sure there are some who find the monotony a cruel burden and will see it at the first opportunity. But as there must be "flowery words and drawers of water," as the Old Testament writers perceived, it is fortunate that so many of those engaged in manual or monotonous factory labor do not find it as distasteful as some of us are apt to suppose.

READING 20 BOOKS A DAY.

Many have wondered how professional book reviewers can read so many volumes in a short time, and some have not unreasonably wondered whether the reading really consists of more than a glance here and a skim there. The announced ability of Joseph Hergersheimer to read ten books a day has led to the boast of Carolyn Wells that she recently read forty books in two days and "considered it no stunt at all." Invited to write the foreword to a book, which demanded the reading of many biographies and the whole output of the author himself, Miss Wells declares that in two days she read forty books—"nor did I merely skim the pages; I read discriminatively and selectively." She adds: "But rapid reading is a gift, and in no sense a test of brain power or erudition. It is merely a part of the office equipment. . . . Speedsters are born, not made, and excess of energy is probably due to variations in the chromosomes."

The gift of these "speedsters" who are "born, not made," would appear to be a development of our rapid machine age, and the discreet reader is apt to be troubled with the fear that the lightning-like product of their genius carries with it somewhat of a machine-made atmosphere and to prefer literary work performed with less facility but with more thoughtful deliberation.

THE TWELVE MEN LACKING.

Being out of office Mr. Coolidge is less cautious in what he says than he was when he was President, but the habit of restraint is still noticeable. Writing in the American Magazine about the Executive's relations with the legislative body at Washington during his administration, he says: "About a dozen able, courageous, reliable and experienced men in the House and Senate can reduce the problems of legislation almost to a laughing point." He does not say such a dozen were lacking during the last administration, but this is clearly implied, for the problems of legislation were very far from being reduced almost to the vanishing point.

It is not unlikely that a Democratic fighter in Congress of Senator Harrison's type will later on confirm the Republican majority with Mr. Coolidge's article and notify them that, according to their own expectation, there are not, or were not, twelve "able, courageous, reliable and experienced men" among the whole crowd of them—with the consequence of some sheepish smiling, except among the more self-satisfied who in each case will treasure the conviction that he at least measured up to the desired standard.

Contrary to the ruling of the Boston authorities, the Treasury Department at Washington has decided that Voltaire's "Candide" can be admitted through that or any other American port. This may tend to check refusal to permit the import of books which have long been in the public and private libraries of this country, many of them but mildly objectionable as compared with the daring "sex" fiction some of our own American authors are now putting on the market.

Movie films as an American export have become so important that a special motion-picture division has been created in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce. Doubtless this is the more needed now that the expansion of American film production is threatened by restrictive legislation overseas.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

HOME TREATMENT DANGEROUS.

I wrote once before about Tex Rickard, and how delay in operating for appendicitis means death in so many cases.

No one should die if the disease is recognized soon enough, and operation performed immediately.

This doesn't mean that every case of appendicitis should undergo operation, but it does mean that the patient and his family should put themselves fully in the hands of the family doctor and the surgeon, and if operation is advised that there is no delay, no questioning about it.

I have spoken before about the dangerous mistake that is made by giving castor oil or other purgatives to a patient with appendix symptoms. Another mistake is taking drugs such as morphine or pain killers where there are appendix symptoms.

Your doctor will tell you that this relieves the pain and takes some of the stiffness or rigidity out of the abdominal wall over the appendix. Now if it is this pain and this rigidity that tell the exact condition of things to the doctor, and if they are interfered with by the drug then the condition can be growing worse all the time and the doctor will not be able to recognize it.

Another mistake that has been made at times is the use of the ice bag over the appendix during an attack.

After the ice bag has been used for a few hours it likewise takes the stiffness or rigidity out of the abdominal wall and the doctor can be misled as to the severity of the condition.

As mentioned once before, when you have an attack of appendicitis nature attempts to "wall off" the appendix from injury, to make a sort of "splint" about it, by stiffening the abdominal wall. And the more rigid this wall is, as the doctor taps or presses against it with his fingers, the more severe is the inflammation underneath. Hence the big mistake of using drugs or an ice bag to "soften" the wall and mislead the doctor.

As you know in most cases abdominal pain is due to distention from gas, and simple home remedies are usually all that is necessary.

However, in a case of abdominal pain that persists, don't take any chances but see your physician. Let him take the responsibility; that is his work.

For the Love of a Lady

by Jeffery Farnol

Chapter 19
A MESSAGE FROM RICHARD
NOW as Helen, the Duchess, and Captain Despard stood thus, looking upon each other in a dismay for beyond words, the Duchess approached.

"By the powers!" she exclaimed, "three images of tragedy—and all of 'em one dirty old cloak!"

"But be woe that same cloak in the land!" Helen said.

"Fah. Who's to say 'twas him self left it in the wood? So mighty convenient to be found!"

To the abour they went and there seated, waited for the Duchess to begin.

"Now," said the Duchess, "now, is there wan of us believe Richard could stoop to murder?"

Helen: Nay, but dear aunt, how if 'twas a duel and—

Duchess: We may know 'twas not a duel or Richard would never have run away. Beyond all doubt 'twas murder sure. And what truly amazing murderer! He scatters his possessions all about the fatal spot! So reckless! His cloak, his ring—tomorrow they may find his hat and his boots. Oh, 'tis an astonishing murderer! So very infinite careful!

Marquis: (brightening) You think 'twas placed there by other hands than Dick's—ha?

Helen: But, dear lady, I saw Richard back the ring! I saw the cloak upon him! How then can they—

Duchess: Oh, Miss? And who's to say he was not way-laid—hurt, wounded, stripped and robbed—

Helen: Richard hurt! Wounded, perchance dead!

Duchess: (rapping snuffbox) Such a clack o' chatterboxes! Am I never to speak?—who's this?

Three pairs of eyes glanced round to see a small, slim figure curtsying demurely.

"I be Shurl, if you please," said she softly. "I be Shurl Camlo, o' the Poor Folk, w' a message."

"Wby, Shurl!" cried Helen, smiling, and with hands outstretched; little Shurl, running forward, cuddled down at my lady's knee.

"My mother bid me find ye," said Shurl, smiling up into the lovely face bent above her; so saying, she held up a small, folded paper; Helen beheld scrawled thereon:

"So to Gregory she gave it and he, with murmur of apology, read it hastily, and though the letter seemed of no great length, it brought him to his feet with cheeks flushed and eyes aglow."

The Duchess exclaimed:

"Read it, man, read 'it, this minute!"

So Gregory read as follows:

"My Dear Greg:
When you read this I shall be a murderer, murdered, and a murderer I must remain for diverse reasons. Meanwhile, since even murderers must live, bring me what monies you have in hand to the old forest, trying place at 10 o'clock on Wednesday."

"Thus far I am hale and hearty, and so, to thee despite the damning evidences of my guilt, I subscribe myself, now, as ever thy grateful, loving, Guyford of Wears."

Here Gregory paused to glance into each intent face.

"Post Scriptum.—Pray bring also my stoutest cloak, I mean the old campaigning cloak that is lined and turned up with scarlet."

Helen drew a deep breath.

"His old cloak faced with scarlet? . . . But I saw him wearing it! Oh, Gregory, what . . . what can it mean?"

St. Remy.

St. Remy, July 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Shults are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a young son at the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. William Wheeler of Kingston called on Mrs. K. Sutton last Friday night.

Mrs. Chester Wells visited friends in Newburgh last week.

Clarence Kiven is spending his vacation at his grandfather Krom's at Accord.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schaffer of Bloomington called at Maurice Planch's recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Schermerhorn of

"Ah, my lady," he answered, lifting radiant eyes to the Duchess heaven, "it can but mean that who you saw in the cloak, it was most assuredly not Sir Richard!"

"Nick's name!" said Sir Richard, frowning.

"Friend!" quoth the Galloping Parson, "the High Toby concern is profession as no man may play fast and loose with."

"Fah, Rob, 'thout at least a conscientious robber!"

"Friend, I am so—for highway robbery should be taken seriously, as I've warned Nick many's the time, but then—Nick's . . . in love!" Here the speaker shook grim head in scornful disparagement. "And love hath been the ruin of many a promising High Tobyman as should have neither friend nor sweetheart. A true Tobyman should work alone, ripe solitary and have faith abiding in Providence."

"Nay, Rob, surely Providence and robbery be but ill-assorted!"

"Ah, verily, friend! But I, though sinner by trade, am religious by instinct and reverent by nature. Bred to the church was I, and should ha' made a notable good parson, but a cruel destiny decreed otherwise. So 'stead o' taking holy orders I took to taking pury."

"Why not give it up?"

"Because on a day, friend, I shot—and killed—a perjured rogue who had sworn away an innocent life, then I vowed to live and die by the road. 'Twas long ago, since when six sinners vile have I made to cease from evil by means o' steel and bullet, translating 'em to a nobler living. I pray . . . See yonder!" and he jerked twigged head towards a small, battered, leather-covered box upon the shelf.

"I call it my memento mori—ha! the goodness to set it in my reach." Sir Richard did as requested, and opening the box the Galloping Parson gazed into it, smiling a little grimly.

"Looket!" quoth he and held up a rusty spur. "This was Sylvanus Todd, one o' Jonathan Wild's perjurors, as black a rogue as ever sold man or woman to the gallows! I killed him on Kennington Heath. This," said he, showing a large plate coat-button, "this was Timothy Dwyer, another o' Wild's crew. I stabbed him w' my sword one night, whereby two poor souls won free o' the noose awhile. Here now," he continued, drawing from the box a bunch of seals, "here's William Shand, another o' 'em. I shot him on Blackheath. This," and he showed a gold ring, "this was Thomas Collison—Tom was a mistake . . . however, 'this," and he held up a yellow lace ruff, "this was a murderer o' quality, Sir Ralph Markly, that dodged the gallows, thanks to Wild, who sets another dangling in his stead. And that is all . . . but some day I'll rid the world of Wild—ay, of Jonathan and Titus Oldcraft." So saying, the Galloping Parson replaced his mementoes, sighed and closed the box.

"As to Nick," pursued the Parson, "the poor lad's in love, and so must go gallivanting to the Guyford Arms and the country hereabouts all agog by reason o' myself."

"Rob, 'twas I put Nick on riding for the inn tonight—if he come to any harm the fault is mine. Ha, d'ye judge him in danger?"

"No, friend, I don't—see yonder!" and he nodded towards the pewter plate that rose upon its rim and subbed three times. "That should be Nick and yet, 'tis well to be prepared." Saying which, the Galloping Parson took up and cocked one of his long pistols.

RESUME LAKE MOHONK INDIAN CONFERENCES

The Lake Mohonk Conference on the Indian, which has been discontinued for some years past after having been a feature of national interest for 34 consecutive years, was again reassembled at Lake Mohonk, October 16, 17 and 18.

The Lake Mohonk Bulletin says that it is expected that the membership will be somewhat limited and will be made up mostly of those actively and earnestly engaged in Indian affairs and those having intimate first-hand knowledge of and experience in that work. It hopes that "the sensational and misleading sentiments lately appearing in the public press will find no place on its program."

Following established traditions, it is expected that discussions will be of wide range and freedom of expression, leading to conclusions which warrant practically unanimous consent, carrying to the public confidence in their reasonableness and practicality.

Kenosia Club Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Kenosia Club held at the club house at Kenosia Lake Monday evening, there was a goodly attendance. Officers elected were: Dr. Wright J. Smith, president; William D. Brinkley, Jr., vice-president; Frank B. Mathews, secretary and treasurer; Dr. R. P. Baylor, Edward Elmsdorf, George Semon, trustees. A bountiful dinner, which all enjoyed because of the excellence of the menu, was served by Mrs. Lawson, who has charge of the club house and is the club caterer.

POLICE HELPED AS DRUG CHEATS DEATH

Holdup Suspect, Wounded in Fight, Dies Twice.

Detroit, Mich.—John Jones, a negro, twenty-two years old, suspected of being a holdup man, was shot as he dived out of an alley in a running battle with the police, and died twice.

He was removed to the receiving hospital, where he died before the police could question him and secure information regarding holdups which they were sure he could furnish.

Death had cheated the law for dead men tell no tales.

Science then stepped in and cheated death. Dr. Courtney Fremont, a member of the hospital staff, injected a charge of adrenalin into the heart muscle of the man who had been dead about half an hour and he came back to life. He lived for five hours, giving the police ample time in which to question him and secure such information as he was willing to give. He then died again.

Victory of Science.

The shooting and double death of Jones took place several weeks ago, but passed practically unnoticed as a news item. As a shooting and single death it was just one more item in the list of crime news that passes daily out of the police department.

The scientific angle, however, became a matter of medical record and as such it has survived as another almost unnoticed victory of science.

Bringing persons back from the grave to live again is no longer a novelty. It has been done scores of times. When the miracle was first performed it received little publicity. It seemed as if there must be some fake about it and, of course, newspapers could not be victimized by fakers, so the stories were published with numerous qualifications hedged about all statements. Now that it has become well established as a bona fide miracle of science it does not possess quite the novelty it did at first, and even spectacular events such as the Detroit incident pass almost unnoticed.

Baby Brought to Life.

The first case on record in which a baby born dead was brought back to life occurred in a Brooklyn hospital. Mrs. Bertha Isaacson gave birth to twins, a boy and a girl, at the Boro Park Maternity hospital. The boy, weighing three pounds, was born dead. The girl weighed two and a half pounds. Dr. Philip Minberg administered adrenalin to the boy by hypodermic injection. It stimulated the infant's heart to action and life returned.

Both infants were fed with a medicine dropper and were raised in an incubator until they had attained sufficient growth. The boy who was brought back to life is still alive, but his sister died before reaching her fourth birthday. They were born on Lincoln's birthday, 1923. Since then the miracle has been repeated scores of times in Brooklyn as well as elsewhere throughout the country.

In Philadelphia a few years ago a man of forty who had suffered from tuberculosis half his life died. Twelve doctors gathered around his bed and for an hour applied every known test for a sign of life, without finding any. At the end of two hours rigor mortis had set in. A small amount of adrenalin was then injected into the heart.

At the end of two minutes the skin assumed a pink tinge which gradually changed to a flesh color. Ten minutes later the man was breathing faintly. His eyelids fluttered and he sighed as though awakening from sleep.

"How do you feel?" the man was asked.

"All right," he answered in a tired but very ordinary tone.

"Did you have any dreams?"

"No. I slept." His tired eyes closed.

"No unusual sensation?"

"No."

Shortly afterward he returned to an unending dreamless sleep.

Educator to Translate Book of 6,175 Pages

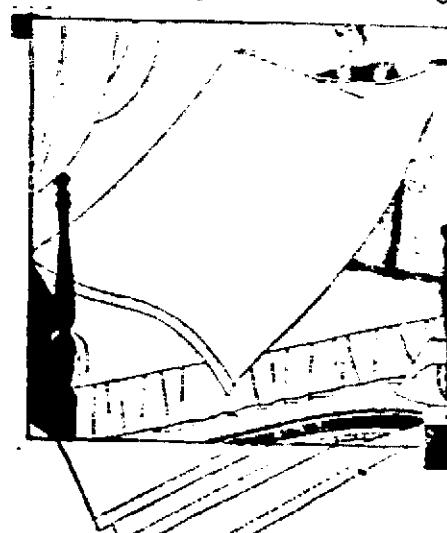

Crawfordsville, Ind.—Prof. C. H. Oldfather, formerly of the Wabash college faculty here, now with the University of Nebraska, has been commissioned to translate the "Diodorus of Sicily," which will run about 13 volumes, a total of 6,175 pages. The commission was given by the Loeb classical library. Diodorus has never been translated into English, Professor Oldfather says. He is an original writer but also is an important authority for several periods in ancient history.

Who is She?

She doesn't like
A shady joke.
She doesn't like,
She doesn't smoke.

She doesn't dance,
She doesn't sing
And, goofy in pants
Don't mean a thing.

She doesn't swear,
She never flirts,
She never wears
Those shortened skirts.

She doesn't use
The beauty salves,
But won't refuse
To show her calves.

You ask her name?
Well, that's a wow—
She's not a dame,
She's just a cow.

"SATURDAY'S CHILDREN"

AT ELVERHOJ THEATRE.

The fifth week of the summer season of the Elverhøj Theatre at Milton-on-the-Hudson ushers in the most ambitious production of the year. Maxwell Anderson's highly amusing "Saturday's Children" on Monday evening. With a cast headed by Eric Dressler, John D. Seymour and Anne D. Seymour, and including Mrs. Louis Doucey of Milton, who is returning to the stage for this production only after an absence of many years, the Elverhøj Theatre has mounted the piece in distinctive fashion.

Mr. Dressler will be remembered as a star of "Exceeding Small" and "Before You're 25" on Broadway the past season. Miss Seymour, who has been at Elverhøj through the summer, was in "Mr. Moneybags". Mr. Seymour—her uncle by the way—has a long record of successes behind him, including "Falstaff", "Dearest Enemy", "She Stoops to Conquer", "The Royal Family", "Richard III", "With John Barrymore", "Thank You", "Lightnin'", "Happiness" with Laurette Taylor, the all star tour for the Red Cross of "Out There" in 1918 and the Players' revivals of "School for Scandal", "She Stoops to Conquer" and "Trelawny of the Wells".

On Friday evening a special benefit performance will be given for the Community Nurse Association of the town of Lloyd. On Wednesday noon members of the company will be the guests of the Poughkeepsie Rotary Club at a ladies' luncheon.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Perfect Acting At the Elverhoj

A new face appeared on the stage at the Elverhoj Theatre Monday evening, when "Saturday's Children," a comedy drama by Maxwell Anderson was given as the fifth play of the season there. Eric Drenner, who has been playing leading roles in such productions as "Excess Baggage," "Exceeding Small," "Trelawney of the Wells," etc., was the newcomer who is the role of lover and then husband of "Bobby" (Frances Simpson) put on no stage stuff as either lover or husband in love with his wife, but acted as any real, honest-to-goodness man's man, any real boy would act toward the girl whom he really did love. As one man in the audience put it, "That's the real thing."

And what a girl he had for sweetheart and very new wife. It would be hard to imagine any more charming, fascinating, girl with a flare for real things and being her own honest self, than Frances Simpson. In every appearance she has made on the Elverhoj stage, Miss Simpson has been delightful, but as the "leading lady" Monday night she seemed to have found a perfect role. The supporting characters were all remarkably good, too. Anne Davenport Seymour as "Bobby's" sister, Florrie Sands, was amazingly unexpected and spicy, while John D. Seymour (Guest Player) as her rather wilted but good natured young husband was mighty good.

Another guest player was Mrs. Mary Tupper Jones, who has just finished a successful season with "Courage," and who was the very genuine motherly mother of Bobby and Florrie, Mrs. Halvey. Joaquin South, who has been seen in such radically different roles, showed his versatility by giving a fine portrayal of Mr. Halvey, easy-going if philosophical father.

Still another guest player, Mrs. Louie Ducey, who has had a very successful motion picture career, was an exceedingly realistic rooming-house keeper, "Mrs. Gorkik," and the last member of the cast was the important chauffeur of Bobby's boss, played well by Ben Starkie.

The comedies put on at the Elverhoj Theatre have not been in any instance farces, but comedies with a thread of the serious side of life calling for—as did "Saturday's Children," some exceedingly clever acting.

This play will be given on Friday evening as a benefit for the town of Lloyd Public Health Nurse, who is doing the same sort of splendid child welfare work in that end of Ulster county as the nurse provided by the Junior League is doing in the city of Kingston.

There was an exceptionally large "first-night" audience Monday night, which is sure to bring out increasingly large audiences each night this week, but especially on Friday night, when a pleasant evening will have the added interest of helping to do some good in the world.

NEW PALM

New Palm, July 16.—On Saturday evening, in keeping with the season, the members of Huguenot Grange were entertained and instructed with a patriotic program. After communal singing of patriotic songs, Charles Parker gave an interesting account of his experiences during the World War as engineer on the transport Cape Romaine, and told of the unloading of American supplies and building of docks in France. He called attention to the fact that two out of every three American boys who went across saw actual service. Speaking of the future of American aviation, he said that during the war American aviators brought down 156 German planes and lost 246. Past Commander Conrad Hetselman, of Kingston (Post of the American Legion, gave an enlightening talk on the work the American Legion has done since the war and is still doing. At the close of the meeting delicious homemade cake and ice cream were served by the Grange host.

The following comprised the committee: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Dushenberry, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. McElhinney, Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Denison, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Bole, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McKinstry, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Deyo, Mr. and Mrs. Lee F. Hammer, the Rev. Victor Simons, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. DuBois, Susanna Althusen, Nellie Althusen and Richard Althusen.

August 1 and 2, on Wednesday and Thursday, the Methodist Church fair will be held.

F. H. Hulbert, an old time acquaintance of New Palm, spent three pleasant days with his friends recently.

Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Edinger of Kingston and Mrs. Fred Schuman of Union City were visitors at the home of Mrs. Mary F. Dill on Tuesday.

Otto Sorensen is spending a few days in town.

Mrs. Arthur DeGraff of Hyde Park visited her sister, Mrs. Frank Guinac one day the past week.

Howard Connors of Binnewater spent Thursday in this village.

Miss Ruth Haynes is studying this summer at Columbia University.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jansen are visiting his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Abram E. Jansen.

Ernest Rensen left New Palm last Tuesday to take charge of one of the A. and P. stores at Rondout.

Mrs. Gertrude Lefevre is visiting her son, Irving at Auburn, N. Y. She will stay for the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rose have just returned from a vacation in Montreal, Canada also visiting Quebec and Lake George.

Friend Wilklow of New Palm has bought of the Storr Realty Corporation, Inc., through Elting Harp's Agency, three choice lots located on the east side of Mannheim Blvd., and south side of John street in this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Yeaple and Miss Lillian Yeaple have returned to their home after spending two weeks at the home of Mr. Yeaple's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Yeaple, Mrs. Fred Coddington, Mrs. Fred Dill, Mrs. Ernest D. Gerald, Miss Lucille Coddington and Miss Hilma Gerald, on Monday.

Howard Elting and Elting Harp spent last Tuesday afternoon at the Wallkill fishing. They returned with a fine string of black bass.

Miss Emma Lutz and mother motored to the Catskill Mountains and spent the week end in camp.

The Union Holiday School is very fortunate in having Mrs. S. M. Keran to direct the singing.

Miss Marion Harding, music teacher during regular session at the Normal School, returned to New Palm for a few days the past week.

There were sixty guests at Sun Set Inn over the week end.

Miss Ethelyn Craig spent last week with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Warren Craig.

Oland Townsend and family of Newburgh were in town Sunday.

Mrs. Peck of Hartford, Conn., is visiting her sister Mrs. Daniel Gerow.

Bert Schoonmaker has purchased two lots of Rosell DuBois. These lots are adjoining Mrs. Bliss' house on Plattkill avenue.

On Tuesday the New Palm Girl Scouts visited Camp Wendy, the troop were taken and brought back in cars by the Misses Helen Hasbrouck, Lucille Coddington and Edna Rider and Mr. Bennett. The celebration at the camp included tree planting, rowing and obstacle swimming races. Lunches were of the picnic variety. Songs were sung in honor of Mrs. Borden who owns the camp and generously spends a great deal of money on its upkeep. Scouts from all over the county enjoyed the celebration.

Miss Mary Coward of Riverport, N. J., and Mrs. Ernest Fisher of Albany were soloists at the Reformed Church Sunday morning. Mrs. Fisher was formerly Miss Eltinge of New Palm.

Bayard Taylor the artist, Mrs. Taylor and Miss Myra Taylor of Yonkers, who have been boarding at Sun Set Inn, were guests on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. James MacLaurey.

Miss Alice Tobin, a teacher in the Warring School, Poughkeepsie, has been promoted to principal in the Abraham Lincoln School, to take effect next fall. Miss Tobin is a graduate of New Palm Normal School.

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Frazier and baby daughter, who left New Palm, June 21 to motor to Kansas, reached their destination on the 29th, after a very pleasant trip.

Mr. Frazier is a teacher at the Normal School.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Goetcheus of Jamaica, Long Island, and Mrs. H. H. Terwiltger and children of Kingston, N. Y., called on Mr. and Mrs. Friend Wilklow on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Albert E. Terry of Danbury, Connecticut, was the guest of the sister, Mrs. Eugene Van Wageningen last week. On the fourth she accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Van Wageningen on a trip to Greenwood Lake, New Jersey. On Sunday the Van Wageningen family motored with her to Danbury.

Dr. Lawrence H. Vanden Berg went to Albany last Tuesday, returning on the following Wednesday.

Miss Maude Richards and Miss Jennie L. Damm entertained the feminine part of the Normal faculty at a tea given at their home on Prospect street on Tuesday afternoon.

The latest registration report for this year's summer session at the Normal is an enrollment of 170.

The boarding houses of Springtown over the Fourth were well filled. On the lawn at Maple Lodge Farm was a fireworks display. Several from the adjoining villages came and had an enjoyable independence day.

OPERATIC STAR TONIGHT
AT WOODSTOCK PLAY HOUSE

Unusual interest is being evinced in the appearance this evening at the new Woodstock Play House, located on the grounds of the Woodstock Country Club, of the operatic star, Elda Vettori, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Vettori is appearing under the auspices of Pierre Henrotte, concert master of the Metropolitan Opera House, who will present her in conjunction with the third of his Play House series of concerts with the Woodstock Ensemble of instrumentalists.

Miss Vettori is making her last concert appearance in the United States at Woodstock this evening prior to sailing to Europe for an extended concert tour. She is a native of St. Louis, Mo., of Italian parentage and made her operatic debut at the Metropolitan on November 22, 1927, as "Santuzza" in a presentation of "Cavalleria Rusticana."

Prior to that time she was the prima donna at the Municipal Theatre, St. Louis, for several seasons with the Goltzman Opera Company.

The instrumentalists to be presented by Mr. Henrotte this evening include Charles King, formerly pianist for Marion Talley, Gerald Kunz, violinist, of the Eastman String Quartet, and Aaron Bodenhorn, cellist, of the Cleveland String Quartet. They will play Weber's time in G minor Opus 43. Adagio will hold a special meeting in Epworth Hall on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

To Prevent Blindness
The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness says that 600 agencies cooperate with the society.

Do you know Molly B?

SHE is young and pretty and a clever secretary in a prominent firm — at the usual salary for such work.

Molly and her brother support the home; another brother is still in school. The father of the family died a few years ago.

Molly's mother is a good manager and knows all the tricks of saving and of wise spending. There are never any "poor spells" in that household.

A new record to write in aviation's history
... A strange new plane circling the hills of Rome ... And another addition to the long list of flying honors already held by VEEDOL Motor Oil!

For the "Pathfinder" gave VEEDOL and TYDOL one of the most thrilling airplane tests ever given motor oil and gasoline ... 4,700 miles ... 3,400 miles across the grim Atlantic ... fighting headwinds and forced to climb 12,000 feet to surmount the blinding fog ... And not a falter, not a slip, not even a momentary failure of lubrication or fuel!

The Graf Zeppelin has reported perfect performance, by VEEDOL, under the most adverse conditions, on all its famous flights. The Byrd Expedition chose VEEDOL ... Martin Jensen broke the world's solo endurance record with VEEDOL and Hi-test TYDOL ... Now comes this spectacular flight to Rome to prove to you anew that ...

The motor in your own car will get greater protection, more power and a smoother flow of speed from VEEDOL Motor Oil ... Ready for you ... in the same air-proved quality that breaks economy and service records on the roads as easily as it sets new flying standards in the skies ... at any orange and black VEEDOL sign.

The life of doves and pigeons in general is about 10 to 15 years. In captivity under favorable circumstances these birds might live a longer time.

The SANDMAN STORY

A PARTY IN FAIRYLAND

NOW Bennie Brownie wanted to give a party and he decided that he would have a bonfire party. So he asked the Breeze Brothers if they would help him take around the invitations.

Nothing pleases the Breeze Brothers more than to help when there is going to be a party and they accepted with much joy. Oh, yes, they would help him!

So they took around his invitations to the Fairies and to the Gnomes and to the members of the Oaf and Bogey families and to the Elves and to old Mr. Glant and to Witty Witch and the other Brownies.

Many of the Brownies helped Bennie as he made the preparations for his party.

Well, first of all they gathered many piles of leaves and old Mr. Wind and the Breeze Brothers promised they would help the party by not coming around.

Wore Tall Red Boots and a Suit of Brown With Red Touches.

So they stayed away, and the Brownies raked up the leaves and made piles and piles of them.

Then they made one very enormous pile of leaves and all around they made paths of leaves and rooms of leaves which led up to the big pile of leaves.

They had dressing rooms made of leaves—they had these for the guests to leave their outer wraps in if they so desired, and they had a tiny little pool made surrounded by leaves.

Oh, it was a very magnificently arranged party and Bennie spent hours and days with some of the other Brownies over it.

But they loved working over the

For just because they were brothers was no reason why they should not be quite willing to praise each other and show that they were exceedingly fond of each other!

And then the party began. The guests were much impressed with the dressing rooms and they thought that Bennie had certainly prepared one of the most marvelous parties ever given in Fairyland.

The bonfire was glorious and in honor of the occasion Fairy Princess Twilight-Bell sang a song and Witty Witch told stories while all the Brownies and the Elves and the Fairies and the members of the Oaf and Bogey families, old Mr. Glant and Witty Witch and the Gnomes joined hands around the great fire, singing as they danced.

Why We Do What We Do

By M. K. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE BELIEVE

WE BELIEVE because we want to believe. It is very easy for a mother to think the best concerning her boy. She believes him innocent when all the world is certain that he is guilty.

Belief makes for prejudice. If we have a poor opinion of John Doe we are ready to believe some unsavory rumor concerning his moral conduct just as the mother or lover refuse to believe anything evil of their beloved.

To arouse belief in us, a new fact or bit of information must fit in with our preconceived notions. Now and then we are forced to believe what we do not want to believe because the evidence substantiates our experience.

To doubt the thing we do not care to believe is our first impulse. Perhaps we are interested in the Yankees baseball team and we hope and believe that they are going to win a particular game. We ask some one how the game came out, and he says, "The Yanks lost." Our first response is natural enough. We say, "No! That can't be." We have been thinking in terms of victory and cannot accept the fact of defeat. We keep hoping against hope that the report is false, although we know right well that the score stands against our favorite team. It takes time to have the truth borne in on us.

We also believe because we accept the source of information as authoritative. The more prestige the source has the quicker we believe. The child believes implicitly in his father and older people generally, because he realizes that they know more than he does.

Belief is also produced through suggestion and imitation. We believe what others believe.

Automobile's Early Days
According to the November, 1895, issue of the Horseless Age, a Frenchman, Roger, brought three horseless carriages to New York in June of that year. They were run around the city streets to advertise R. H. May's department store. In 1896 Barham and Bailey advertised that they would exhibit a horseless vehicle as part of their show.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SWARMING BEES

MANY are the superstitions with regard to bees and probably the most common and widespread one is that when the bees swarm and leave the hive, it is necessary to go forth with pans, kettles, bells and other articles by which a noise may be produced, and, by creating a great din, induce the truant insects to alight. This is not a new custom by any means for Varro, the learned Roman, writing two thousand years ago, remarked, "Who does not know that wandering and dispersed bees may be got to one place by cymbals and rattles?"

The bee was especially sacred to Diana and Ceres. To the former it was assigned because it was a symbol of virginity, but to Ceres, the goddess of grain and harvest, the bee was naturally affiliated by the part it plays in the farm life. Ceres was the bees' especial goddess and over the fields of that goddess' care they flew in search of the material for their honey. So when they swarm and go in search of a new home they hear in the beating of the tin pans the clash of the cymbals around the altar of their goddess; in the bells and rattles the sound of sacred instruments celebrating her rites—and knowing, thereafter, that her altar is high, they settle down on some convenient limb as a suitable place to end their exodus. When you beat a tin pan to stop the swarming bees you are merely trying to fool them by imitating an ancient heathen rite.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, July 16 (AP)—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets).—The wholesale supply of state big basket lettuce was liberal this morning. Prices declined in a sluggish market. The price obtained in most instances was of less importance than the finding of a buyer. Much of the trading was at one-time a crate of 24 heads. Some really fancy offerings, however, reached $1.00. Inferior worked out at 75c and even lower.

Cauliflower mountain cauliflower is gradually increasing in volume and improving in quality. The demand was moderate on good to fancy, but exceedingly slow on poor. Sales were reported as high as $1.50 per crate and as low as $1.50. Washington cauliflower peddled out at $2.00-$2.75 a crate.

Raspberry prices slumped, due to earlier arrivals from Washington. The demand was fairly good. Pint baskets from the Hudson valley jobbed out at 14c-25c. The Washington fruit sold at 12c-22c. Last year Washington forwarded 17 carloads of raspberries to this market.

The market on celery was a trifle stronger. Supplies were moderate and the demand was more active. The top prices obtained on the finest consignments in the rough packed in two-thirds crates were $4.50-$5.00. Bunches of one dozen stalks of largest size and fanciest quality commanded $1.00-$1.25.

Price changes on upstate New York green peas were few and small. Arrivals were moderate. Jobbing business on bushel baskets was transacted at $2.50-$4.00. Crates of approximately 45 pounds from Washington brought $6.50-$7.00.

Hudson valley currants were plentiful. The demand was rather slow and values averaged a shade lower. Quart baskets of red currants realized 10c-15c. Black currants sold at 25c-30c.

Orange county New York cut beets, carrots and white, purple top turnips continued in light receipt. Owing to the great variation in the quality sales ranged widely. Bushel hampers of round beets peddled out at 75c-$1.25; carrots at 75c-$1.50; and turnips at $1.25-$1.50.

New "Parachute Silk" Is Made From Cotton

Washington.—For some time government experts have been experimenting with American-grown cotton as a promising substitute for parachute silk, now imported from abroad. The cotton must be treated in some way to impart to it the desirable qualities of high-grade silk.

As a result a cotton yarn has been developed, merized under modified conditions followed by the application of a "dope," which appears to comply with the requirements.

To prepare suitable materials to manufacture full-sized parachutes, the problem has been shifted from a laboratory to a production scale. The yarn was spun in the experimental cotton mill of the bureau of standards. A bale of "Arizona Egyptian" cotton, grown in Arizona, was used.

French City Has Limit on Saxophone Playing

Nancy, France.—A law against the nocturnal use of the saxophone is effective.

So far as known, Nancy is the first community to establish a saxophone curfew. The limit is 10 p. m.

One may awaken the quick and the dead with jazzes and dirges from the horns of this lugubrious instrument all day long, but on the stroke of 10 p. m. the curfew goes into effect.

Beauty and Grace Achieved Through Tailored Lines..... in the 90° V-Eight at Medium Price

In creating the new Viking, the designers sought distinction along the most difficult path—the achievement of beauty, grace, and elegance through tailored lines.

The result more than justifies their diligence, for although the Viking was introduced only a few weeks ago, the public has already appraised it as a car of exceptional beauty.

The Viking is a low-swung, trimly-tailored car of generous size. Sweeping full-crown fenders, graceful hood, and handsome body contours all blend into a pleasing, beautifully proportioned whole—at once fleet in appearance and dignified in character. And this same rich harmony of design has been carried out to the last detail in upholstery, appointments, and all interior decorations.

Combined with this beauty and luxury are the smoothness, quietness, and perfection of performance of the ninety-degree, V-type, eight-cylinder engine. The new Viking will deliver far greater speed than the average motorist requires—easy, effortless speed that may be sustained hour after hour. Response to the throttle is remarkable, both in getaway from a standing start and in acceleration at the higher speeds. And there is mighty power for steep hills, long grades, and hard pulling. Among the outstanding advantages of the new Viking V-type, eight-cylinder engine are its simplicity, rigidity, accessibility, and compactness. The valve mechanism is entirely new in design and is more accessible than in the conventional automobile engine. Fuel distribution is through down-draft manifolds, providing all cylinders with a uniform fuel mixture.

Come in and see the great new Viking Eight today. Examine its many new engineering features. Take it for a trial drive. Then compare the new Viking, point by point, with other cars of medium price and learn how much more it offers you in value.

OLDSMOBILE SIX

—the Fine Car of Low Price—continues to win ever greater success throughout the nation. Comparison car to the new Viking Eight, and equally outstanding in engineering and value at its price. It offers a wide choice of body style and equipment combinations ranging from $275 up, f.o.b. factory, Lansing, Mich.

Purely Feminine Duds for Milady

Bachelor Freedom Doomed
in Fall Clothes, Paris Writer Says.

Paris is showing her midseason styles. Half are for hot weather and the other half look several months ahead to the time when the frost will be on the pumpkin. Liberty of person is being measured by both, says a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Times. The bachelor freedom of the strawblouse, the short skirt, and the simple style in general is, if possible, more threatened now than in the late spring fashions. More than that, fashionable women in and around Paris show in their costumes distinct indications of heading to the old yoke of the purely feminine in clothes with scarcely a struggle.

Fellow-women, the fact is we are about to be frocked. If Paris has her way, in frocks that absolutely demand bills. First of all, as to lines: When Jean Patou introduced his long princess bodice a few months ago many women were heard saying that only mannikins could wear these restrictive, in-curling lines. Time and smart women have proved that this is wrong, for many are now appearing in these molded frocks without any loss of beauty, however greatly freedom of movement is hampered.

The molded upper silhouette, instead of dying a quick death, is now casting a long shadow over fashion forecasts. Some of the leading Paris dressmakers are showing dresses for evening, and for day also, with silhouettes that are molded almost to the knees, from which point the skirt is allowed to flare as extravagantly as possible.

There is no actual tightness in the fitting. Maggy Rouff, who has made such a sensational success here and abroad, uses the modified princess design for summer-and-beyond dresses.

Black Satin Jacket Suit Showing
Pipings of Black on Collar.

While she suggests the princess fit, there is, actually, no really close fit until the hipline. The omission of belts, or any definite waistline marking, gives more than anything else the effect of a princess line.

Golf Petticoat Meant for the Active Sports

As the name implies, the golf petticoat is meant primarily for golf and active sports in general. With summer outings at hand, the golf petticoat can step right up and say to any petticoat wearer: "Here I am, stride-free for sports; sunproof for all occasions. And I'm neither too much nor too little to wear, but just right. I'll make an excellent garment for vacations, too, as well as for golf and tennis and outings."

Buffet Set Made From Discarded Flour Bags

Housewife, like people, tend to be wasteful. And this is with people. It's often the little things that give that smart and smart the appearance.

The buffet set shown here, for example, is a smart addition to any dining room. The present vogue is to have the top of a buffet arranged simply with one of these sets, a pair of handkerchiefs and a couple for fruit in the center.

Staple is the keynote to these buffet sets. The handkerchiefs, for example, are made of a fine, close-woven material, one can well use an empty flour bag whose edges will never be suspected when the work is complete.

The size of the set will, of course, depend on that of the buffet or sideboard. One can choose between an oblong centerpiece flanked by two square cloths or a square one with a smaller oblong each side.

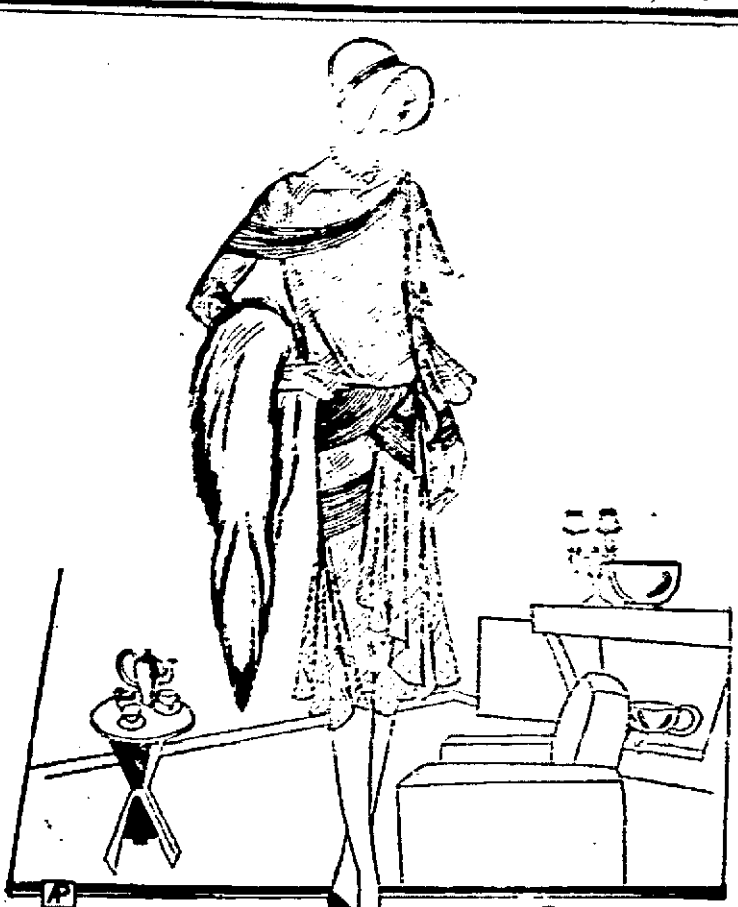

For decoration, use a hemstitched edge and perhaps a border of colorful cross-stitch. For a blue dining room, red and royal blue, the peasant colors, make a most striking combination. If a lace edging is preferred, it should be coarse and of a simple pattern and applied straight with square corners.

Scarf Styles Are More Attractive Than Ever

The scarf is at the very peak of the mode for almost every kind of dress. Shops, large and small, are showing scarves almost like mufflers, which soften a tailored costume and add a flattering note that draws together hat and blouse in the ensemble.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

The Tennis Dress Becomes the Object of Fashion Interest.

New York.—The tennis-inspired dress has come in for considerable notoriety this summer and dresses actually worn on the court have never had more to commend them from the point of view of both comfort and eye appeal.

Obviously the skirt with matching bloomers is easily the winner. Many resort frocks have taken their cue from this, and from the kiddies' play clothes, and are so completed. This type of dress is particularly appreciated by the woman who drives a car. While the sleeveless, so called backless tennis dress is the vogue, women may of course effect long sleeves and high necks if they feel so

A Practical Play Garment
6539. Here is a pretty play garment for a small girl. It speaks for comfort and freedom. The Week End In Woodstock

Banner Crowds at Art Colony—Student Production at the Maverick Theatre on Monday—Coming Events.

The last week end in Woodstock proved to be a real gala day at the popular art colony town. On Friday evening and Saturday evening at the Maverick Theatre there was a dance recital given by Alexis Kostoff, which was attended by audiences from Kingston, Saugerties, and other nearby towns.

Featured on the program were Clara Larionova, Emma D. Miller, Lunita Nester, Carmelita and Alycia, all professional dancers in the ballet. Chief among the little girls who performed with excellent solo dances, was Beatrice Levine. This youthful dancer had unusual grace and spirit; she danced a waltz to Gounod's Faust, and a Russian tzy dance to Berlin's music. She was roundly applauded at each appearance. Carmelita, a Spanish dancer, quite excelled in her appearances. She had plenty of nerve, and classic mannerisms in solo numbers, as well as when she appeared with Harvey Karels. Alexis Kostoff delighted the audience in a duet dance with Alycia at the close of the program.

Following the dance recital, there was a "house-warming" party at the estate of Alexis Kostoff, who recently bought a farmstead on the Maverick road. A large number of after-theatre guests gathered on the large lawn of the Kostoff home, which were decorated with hanging lanterns and supplied with buffets, and enjoyed a social time, met the dancers from the theatre, talked together with their own friends.

Sunday Concert.

On Sunday afternoon the Maverick music hall saw the largest crowd of the season for the stringed quartet recital from Mozart and Ravel. On this program was Gladys Billings, violinist, in her "premiere" at Woodstock. She is the wife of Henry Billings of Hyndcliffe; she was trained at the same conservatoire as Inez Carroll, pianist. Sandor Haramit played first violin with excellent skill and feeling.

And in the village there was a gay and bright array of art colony-town folks. At the Market Fair on Saturday morning there was a banner attendance. This bazaar, held out of doors, just off the village green, is a truly cosmopolitan one. Russian smocks of all colors adorn both men and women. The booths display a large assortment of art and crafts and other goods. Young ladies hawk "The Hine and Cr", the weekly multi-colored paper, while people read the Woodstock Bulletin, an "emerald" publication which is devoted to a serious review of the colony events.

At the Woodstock Country Club workmen were rushing activities all week in order to complete two tennis courts along the main highway leading into Woodstock. The golf course is used daily by an increasing membership, while at the rustic theatre in the club's barns, the Woodstock Playhouse presented last week "The Climax" to large audiences.

A Student Production.

On Monday night the Maverick Theatre gave the first student production witnessed by invited guests interested in the work of the new Maverick school of the theatre.

The program consisted of a light one-act skit, "Where But in America," by Oscar Wolfe, played by Elsa Kewich, Harvey Pine, and Hess Wright. The second play was also a one-act piece, titled "The Dollar," by David Plaski. This is the playwright whose work was produced last winter at the Provincetown Playhouse in New York city with effective result. "The Dollar" represented the musings of its author; it was enacted at a country crossroad with six characters who find a dollar bill, bow to it, fight over it, decide to divide it when a stranger comes along and steals it. The students handled these two skits very well, showed the result of training, as well as histrionic talents of their own.

Coming Events

And for a hint of the coming week in Woodstock, both the Maverick Theatre and the Woodstock Playhouse open on Thursday evening with new plays. "Rain" by Randolph Clements and J. Colton, will be produced at the Maverick Theatre, the first time in the author's "home town." Kingstonians have seen this play at the old Opera House several years ago, and will want to see it again. "Cradle-Snatchers," featuring Jane Meredith, will be offered at the Woodstock Playhouse, beginning Thursday evening. Both these theatres announce that performances begin at 8:45 p. m.

For this week there is a new, (a second one of the season) and interesting exhibition at the art gallery. It is a special exhibition of small paintings, water colors, lithographs, etchings, drawings and crafts, and has well over one hundred pieces on the walls. There is a great variety of work by Woodstock artists; if anyone desires to own something by any given artist, this is the exhibition to visit and procure the special piece, for the small pieces allow reduced prices. A great many visitors have been interested in this special exhibit, which remains hung for the rest of the month of July.

WILL START SOON ON BIG AQUEDUCT

New York Plans to Increase Water Pressure.

New York.—Work on boring a gigantic aqueduct 20 miles long and 500 feet beneath the surface of New York is to begin in a few months.

The tube, which involves one of the major engineering feats of modern times, is to be installed for the purpose of increasing the water pressure for the residents of Brooklyn and Queens.

Sixteen shafts are to be sunk along the route to the 500-foot level, where hundreds of men are expected to spend four years in boring through the muck and rock. The shafts themselves will be so deep that the Leicourt-National building, the city's newest 40-story Fifth avenue skyscraper, would find its tower well below street level if it could be dropped into one of them.

It was announced that 16 electric mine hoists and 62 mine locomotives have been ordered for use in creating the buried aqueduct. It is to begin at the northern end of Van Courtlandt park in the Bronx, extend south and east under the borough, cross twice under the Bronx river, proceed toward Stony Point, cut under the East river to Long Island, cross under Queens and Long Island city, proceed almost the whole length of Brooklyn and terminate at Hamilton avenue, opposite Governor's Island in Brooklyn.

The hole to be bored will be 19 feet in diameter—size enough for three motors to be driven through abreast. The workers after descending the shafts and becoming accustomed to the air pressure necessary, are to team out the tunnel with modern boring machinery and line its walls with a foot-thick coating of concrete as they proceed.

Find New "Ocean Deep" 28,390 Feet Down

Tokyo.—The Carnegie Institute's magnetic survey yacht Carnegie reports the discovery of a new "ocean deep" on the floor of the Pacific between Japan and Guam, in Lat. 23.8 N. and Long. 144.1 E.

The "deep" is 28,390 feet in depth (more than five miles) and nearly nine miles wide at the greatest depth. It has been named J. A. Fleming Deep, in honor of the assistant director of the department of terrestrial magnetism at Carnegie Institute. As far as known it is the sixth deepest hole in the sea.

The yacht encountered a typhoon outside Tokyo bay.

Rats Halt Traffic

Cleator Moor, England.—A horde of rats followed by a swarm of their lesser kin, the mice, stopped traffic on a main road near here recently. The rats kept closely grouped and made the road appear black as they came. Several thousand rats crossed the road in the ten minutes.

Waive Rights to Remain Here

San Francisco, Cal., July 16 (AP).—The Examiner today said that because of technicalities which might prevent the forcible return of Mr. and Mrs. Ying Kuo and Sun Foon to China to face charges of opium smuggling ten prominent Chinatown residents had persuaded the trio to sign agreements waiving any legal rights they may have to remain in this country.

Kao, former Chinese vice consul here, and his wife, together with Sun Foon were arrested recently after a large consignment of opium had been found in trunks brought here from China by Mrs. Kao. All protested their innocence and Mrs. Kao declared she had been made the dupe of an opium smuggling ring.

W. Anching Kung, Chinese consul general in San Francisco, announced last night he had received word that United States Attorney General Mitchell had approved the suggestion that federal charges against the trio here be dropped to clear the way for their return to the Orient. Chinese officials in this country were said to have urgently requested that the three be returned to their native land for prosecution so the national government might "make an example" of them.

The Examiner said that since Mr. and Mrs. Kao entered this country in the status of diplomats there was some question as to whether this government could legally force them to return to China. It declared, however, that they remained subject to the will of the Chinese government.

Magnet Draws Needle

From Brain of Baby

Porterville, Pa.—A nine-month-old baby seemed recovering in a hospital after a sewing needle, lodged upright in the center of its brain, had been removed by means of a strong magnet.

Mrs. Jennie Harvey several days ago saw the threatened end of the needle protruding from her infant daughter Rosanna's skull about three inches above the left eye. Then the needle disappeared. At Porterville hospital an X-ray showed the location of the needle in the baby's brain. Dr. J. H. Rogers selected the spot on the baby's skull to which he thought the topmost end of the needle was nearest. He applied a powerful magnet and the needle came through the baby's scalp, blackened but intact.

There is no explanation of the needle's presence.

Dean Says Scholarship

Highest in Many Years

New Haven, Conn.—Dean Clarence M. Mendel of Yale believes scholarship is now on a higher scale than it has been in many years. Taking issue with recent statements of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who bemoaned a decline in scholarship, Dean Mendel declared interest in college studies reached its lowest ebb between 1850 and 1905, but has shown a steady upward trend ever since.

Artnells Rally In Last Inning To Beat Colets

Coming from behind in the last inning to overcome a one-run deficit and finally sending the winning rally across the plate the Cornell-Artists scratched a ball game from the hands of the Columbia-Taliet by a score of 2-1 Monday evening at the Athletic Field, after it looked as if the Colets had the game sewed up.

Emmich started the rally with a single through the infield. He stole second and third and scored on Houghtaling's boot of Jordan's grounder. Joe Nichols, who had been pitching for the Colets, was taken out at this point of the game in favor of Tommy Lewis. Snyder greeted Lewis with a double to right field, but Jordan was held at third base. St. Lewis was then hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases.

"Waco" Peters was the next batter and when he tried to duck a ball hit bat connected with it, the ball rolling to the pitcher, who tossed the ball to Tomaseski to force Jordan at home. Tomaseski attempted to complete a double play by throwing the ball to Keller at first base and as he did Snyder raced home with the winning tally.

Nichols allowed but four hits while he was on the mound. His successor, Lewis, was touched for one. Jack Spader, the Artnell's pitcher, permitted five hits. Both teams had a bad day offed, the Artnell's committing six errors and the Colets five. The teams battled all seven innings, until the fifth inning, with neither team scoring a run, although the Colets threatened a couple of times and were leading in hits with three to their credit, while the Artnell's hadn't connected safely once.

In the fifth inning both teams scored, the Colets registering twice. Ballard was given a walk, but was forced at second by Nichols. Nichols stole second, took third on Midget Leski's infield hit and scored on Snyder's wild throw in trying to catch Leski at first base. Leski taking second on the error. Leski advanced to third on Keller's single and registered when Emmich threw wild to the catcher.

Jack Spader got the first hit of the game off Nichols, which coupled with Snyder's single and Keller's error, netted the Artnell's their first run in their half of the fifth.

SIDELINERS. Midget Leski, the smallest player in the Industrial League, toted a bat almost as big as himself.

Sperack bottled up a Colet rally in the fourth when he speared Nichols' liner and doubled Dugan at third.

The Colets have lost most of their games this season in one inning.

Lewis, Artnell's first baseman, was hit in the eye with the ball, which is not a very nice place to catch the ball.

Pat Haley Thinks

Sharkey Is Big Sap

The athletes in all lines and the big fellows of sport have a way of free talking when they are out in the country that they never exercise at home.

Patsy Haley, the well known New York boxing referee, was out in an Ohio town recently and he was asked for his opinion of the fighting qualities of Jack Sharkey.

"He's the dumbest big sap I ever saw in the ring," he said.

Second Poughkeepsie

Course in Wisconsin

Elaborate changes in the program of the Wisconsin alkali crew have been announced by Alkie Murphy, new Badger crew coach.

Madison will become a second Poughkeepsie if the coach's plans for a boathouse and course and construction of observation cars by a local railroad materialize.

Murphy made a tentative agreement with railroad authorities for the construction of observation cars to run on the railroad tracks that border two miles of the new course along Lake Monona. The proposed course would make a straight sweep the length of the lake.

The change from Lake Mendota, where present training and racing is done, to Lake Monona is being considered because of the more sheltered position and the fact that it usually is available earlier in the spring.

Tubby Spencer Changed

Back to American Plan

Ty Cobb, when on a training tour with the Detroit Tigers, one day put up at a hotel in Atlantic which ran things on the American plan. Ty was seated at a table with Tub Spencer. Knowing the wide open conditions, Ty was eating all sorts of things, while Spencer had ordered only coffee and rolls.

Spencer, looking at Ty, said in a rich southern drawl: "Mah Gad, Ty, how can you eat that stuff? Coffee and rolls is all I care for for breakfast. Say, Ty, here's 15 cents. Pay the waiter for me. I want to take a little walk."

"Why, we don't pay for our meals here," said Ty. "We're staying here on the American plan. It's the same price, no matter how much you eat."

"Is that a fact sure enough?" asked Tub; "then pass me that bill of fare. Ty, Ah thinks Ah can eat a little bit more."

Disciplinary Problem

"How do you uphold family discipline," said Uncle Eben, "when after telling 'Rastus' he mustn't shoot dice, he brings home enough money to pay de rent?"—Washington Star.

BASEBALL NOTES

"Bull" Joe Bush, former pitcher for the Yankees, Red Sox and Athletics, has joined the Newark International league baseball team.

The Memphis club of the Southern association announces that it has purchased Frank Wilson, an outfielder, from Milwaukee of the American association.

C. A. Russell, a first baseman who was given a brief trial by Indianapolis last year, has been signed by the Duquesne Tigers of the Mississippi Valley league.

Cleveland parted with $75,000 for Earl Averill, Pacific Coast league slugger, but he is worth the money, say the experts who are calling him a second Spenser.

Tom Angley, recently made a free agent by the Chicago Cubs, with whom he has played this season, has been signed by Kansas City of the American association.

Helvie Sand, veteran infielder, went ten games without getting a hit for the Rochester club. But the club was winning partly through his good work in making double plays.

Ethan Allen, Cincinnati National league outfielder, has received a bachelor of arts degree in physical education at the University of Cincinnati commencement exercises.

Although Yale recently completed a modern baseball park with a grandstand seating more than 15,000 persons, less than 2,000 witnessed the last Eli-Princeton game.

President Robert Quinn says you cannot buy a good player at any price in the big leagues today, and as a result a club must depend on what it can get from the minor leagues.

Raymond Coombs, nephew of the famous Jack Coombs of the Athletics, has been a star athlete for the Exeter School for Boys and Connie Mack is said to have his eye on him.

Melvin Ott, Giants' outfielder, is rated as a real star of the major leagues, although he has had no preliminary experience in the minor leagues. He is just past twenty.

An English university is offering a new language, Panoptic English, of only 500 words. That would hardly give a vocabulary for one to express himself at a single baseball game.

Here we just get the bang of pronouncing the names of Yoe, Ubie, Sigafos and others and the Tigers come out with the announcement that Westling of Portland is to join the team.

Nine cities in minor leagues exceed Cincinnati, a major league city, in population. They are Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Montreal, Baltimore, Toronto, Newark, Buffalo, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The early season weather was so cold in Montreal that the home club had an oil stove in their dugout several days. Montreal had many early season games postponed this year as well as last.

After fifteen years of backstopping, Dan Howley, manager of the St. Louis American league baseball team, famous as a catcher, boasts of the fact that his fingers are in perfect shape. He never sustained a finger injury.

The baseball days of Emil (Irish) Mempel of the Glens are over. The once clowning outfielder of the Polo Grounds tribe was released by the Sacramento club of the Pacific coast the other day because of his slowness in the outfield.

Falls 2 Floors Unhurt

Buffalo, N. Y.—Miss Jean Podkowski, sixteen, took an early morning walk, fell two stories to the ground and within 20 minutes was back in bed again sound asleep. The girl, a somnambulist, fell on ground recently dug and was unhurt.

Local Legion Nine Loses to Saugerties Club

The Kingston American Legion Junior baseball team dropped its third straight game to the Saugerties Legion team to lose the series and also to be eliminated from the Winter county championship at the Fair Grounds Monday evening. At one stage of the game the Kingston boys were a run behind but they managed to tie the score up before it was too late in the game. However, in the seventh inning which was the final one Saugerties brought a run across the plate and the game ended with the Kingston Legion team having the short end of a 3 to 1 score.

It was Saugerties' work again which stopped the Kingston team from getting into a comfortable lead. This wonderful little twirler was on the mound when Kingston played the first two games against them which were both victories for Saugerties. Slaughter started on the hill for the visiting team but he quit the mound to Sweet in the fourth after Kingston had added three runs to their tally. Again in the fifth the local team collected a run from Sweet's pitching but after that they were held scoreless.

Willard Thomas although he was hit fairly hard in the first three innings would have fared better had his support not failed him. In the third inning Saugerties managed to get two more runs. They were unable to score then until the seventh, when they made the run that gave them the battle and the championship.

Saugerties will meet the winner of the Columbia-Schoharie series at the Fair Grounds here Friday evening at 5 o'clock.

Score by innings:
Saugerties 222 000 1—7
Kingston 002 310 0—6
Slaughter, Sweet and Knauer:
Thomas and Clarke.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

New York, July 16 (AP).—By a strange as well as dramatic twist of athletic fortunes, Germany, France and America are the principals in the closing Davis cup tennis conflict of 1929.

The competition in the most international of all sports contests has narrowed down to a German-American duel for the right to challenge the cup-holding nation—France.

The United States seems to have too much all-around strength for Germany to overcome in the inter-zone finals this week-end at Berlin but the signs are unmistakable that the Teutons now are on the way to being a definite power in Davis cup affairs.

France, the first to break up the old Anglo-Saxon domination of the tennis courts, in a year or so may find keener rivalry from Berlin's hard-court products than she has had from the more cloistered domains of Wimbledon and German-town.

Australia, once so dominant, has passed from the contending picture, at least for the time being. England's gesture of revival is not yet conclusive. The United States still is seeking to develop talent to bring back some of the glory of the old Tilden-Johnston dynasty.

Germany, on the other hand, in Moldenhauer and Press, appears to possess two unusually promising stars who may develop as fast as did Lacoste and Cochet for France.

Germany has taken only three seasons of competition to gain the top in the European zone of Davis cup competition after a 13-year absence from the field. The first of France's "Three Musketeers" to enter the Davis limelight were Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, in 1922. It was not until 1927 that the galloping gaits broke down America's defense to win the cup.

There was distinct disposition on the part of many American observers last year to regard Percy Williams, the Olympic sprint champion, as "lucky" in spite of the brilliant manner in which the slim Canadian greyhound raced the world's best sprinters into the ground at Amsterdam.

Much of this was due to a natural feeling of disappointment over the showing of the Americans in the Olympics, plus the feeling that Wykoff, Russell, Bracey and the other young stars were not in the best of condition over there after sensational performances at home.

It was pointed out that Williams never had such remarkable times as did Wykoff in the final Olympic trials at Boston.

Whatever doubt, however, may have lingered about the class of Williams, after his fine indoor performances in New York and elsewhere last winter, was entirely dissipated when the Canadian outran Wykoff, Bracey and Eddie Tolan, the new national champion, at Vancouver last Friday and Saturday. It was unfortunate that George Simpson of 9-2-5 fame could not also match strides with Williams. But for the time being there is no question of the Canadian's claim to the title of world's champion.

The Philadelphia Athletics, besides the prospect of winning their first American League pennant since 1919, also have a good chance to boast the leading batsman and pitcher of the circuit for the first time in many moons.

Lefty Bob Grove is well on in front in the pitching parade, enjoying his greatest year so far, while young Jimmy Fox is making a gain: last night for hitting honors. Fox had lost percentage basis.

Father And Son Shooting Off "Feud"

The Minnesota Fawcetts comprise the original father and son trapshooting act in the northwest. In recent state meet Roger outshot his father, who coached the U. S. Olympic trapshooting team in 1924.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HERBERT W. BARKER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Here and there on the pages of baseball history are recorded the dramatic collapse of powerful baseball machines. But the fall of the St. Louis Cardinals, National League champions in 1928, threatens to go down in the books as one of the strangest and most unexpected of all former reversals.

For two months the Cards were in the thick of the pennant chase. Then they fell apart. There have been a number of explanations for the collapse of the champions but most of the responsibility can be traced back to a veteran pitching staff that cracked wide open at a time when Billy Southworth had no up-and-coming youngsters capable of stepping into the breach.

On June 15 of the current campaign the Cards had compiled a record of 34 victories and 19 losses, a percentage of close to .650. Since that date the Cardinals have lost 23 games and won only six for a season's record of 40 victories and 42 defeats, a percentage of less than .500.

Thus in the short space of a month the Cards have dropped from a position as a leading contender for the championship into a dog-fight with Brooklyn to stay out of the second division.

Southworth's crew lost ground to the Dodgers yesterday, bowing to the New York Giants, 7 to 2, while the Robins were turning back the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 2. Jack Scott held the Cards safe all the way.

William Watson Clark gave the Reds only four hits at Brooklyn and breezed through to an easy victory. Ray Kolp was touched for only eight hits but home runs by Frederick and Dressler and doubles by Moore, Frederick and Bissonette enabled the Robins to fashion four runs out of the collection.

The second place Chicago Cubs shaved a half game off Pittsburgh's lead by downing the Phillies in both ends of a double bill, 9 to 6 and 7 to 6. Chuck Klein hit his 24th, 25th and 26th home runs during the double bill to assume major league leadership in this department. Hack Wilson got his 23rd homer in the first game.

An error by George Sisler enabled the Pirates to beat the Boston Braves 5 to 4 in 11 innings, and stretch their winning streak to eight in a row. Comorosky scored the winning run when Sisler muffed Clarke's fly back of first base. The victory left the Pirates leading the Cubs by two and a half games.

The Yankees picked up half a game on the Athletics by beating Detroit, 7 to 6, while the A's were splitting a double bill with Cleveland. Babe Ruth's 20th homer of the year in the ninth inning gave the Yanks their win at Detroit. Sloppy fielding spoiled Roy Sherid's debut as a starting pitcher and he was relieved by Freddy Helms, who received credit for the victory.

Cleveland slugged Ethme, Rommel and Yerkes to take the first game of their double bill with the A's, 8 to 5, but George Earnshaw stopped the Indians cold in the second which the Athletics won 4 to 0. Earnshaw gave seven scattered hits and fanned six men.

Ed Walsh outpitched Fred Marberry as the Chicago White Sox beat Washington, 4 to 2, and the St. Louis Browns pounded five Boston hurriers for 16 hits to down the Red Sox, 10 to 3.

Admission

An old-stager was taking a youth to task for betting all he had on a horse race. He pointed out the many mishaps that may occur between post and finish and called a long roll of sure things that had gone wrong.

"Now think, son," he would up, "how long does it take to run the average horse race?"

"Less than two minutes."

"There's the point. It may be all right to try to get rich quick, but that's too quick."

is being closely pressed by Heinie Manush, who lost out to Goose Goslin by barely a percentage point last year. But Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane, two other hard-hitting Mackmen, are in the contending group.

Grove was the most effective pitcher in the American League in 1926, when he had an earned run percentage of .251, but not since. Chief Charles Albert Benden led the list in 1910-11 has one of Mack's writers been at the top of the won-lost list for hitting honors. Fox had lost percentage basis.

Nick Zinna In Main Bout At Armory Friday

There will be thirty-two rounds of fighting at the New York City armory Friday night. The main bout which will go ten rounds will bring together Nick Zinna, lightweight champ of the National Guard of Hudson Valley, and Maxie Lerner, New York, Benny Leonard's cousin. The lightweight crown will be at stake.

In a six round bout Johnny Blaz of this city will fight Dick Cruze, New York. In another six round bout Benny Cuccio of New York will fight Albert Lamont also of New York. Buckman of Kingston will go rounds with Moffatt of New York. The only four round bout will be between Kid Mayone of Kingston and Charles Garrison also of Kingston.

Australian Ace Turns Hopes Toward England-America Hop

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith (center) and Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm (lower right) are deliberating whether to fly to the United States by way of Spain, Senegal and South America, or whether to try a northern route. The Southern Cross is the plane with which they have won fame.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, July 16.—Eltinge Tindle and Henry Deane, Jr., who have attended the Epworth League Institute at Carmel, N. Y., have returned to their homes on Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. P. J. O'Donnell are having a new residence built on Schryver street and will move from the residence of Miss Carrie Hotelling on Salem street about September 1. Miss Hotelling's flat down stairs is a very desirable home.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty will meet Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in their Council Room on Broadway. The state officers will make an official visit. The members are requested to be present at this meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newton and son, Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fairbrother of Green street motored to North Adams, Mass., and had a delightful ride.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Craig and son, Robert, of Rutherford, N. J., spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Lester O. Ferguson on Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Terwilliger of Bowas street are spending some time at their camp at Watson Hollow.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fowler have moved from Kingston to the residence of Mrs. Fowler's aunt, Mrs. Matilda J. Major on Schryver street.

Miss Dorothy Potter of Stout Avenue is spending the week in Albany.

Miss Mary F. Bishop, Mrs. Mary Best, Miss Nellie Gardner, Mrs. Alice Dunlap, Mrs. Catherine Schleele, Mrs. Lillie Cutler, Mrs. Violet Hales, Miss Frances Post and Mrs. Elsie K. Hutchings, state deputy, of Kingston Council, No. 124, visited Kingston Council Monday evening when the state councilors, Mrs. Mayne Zenke, and State Associate Secretary Mrs. Lottie Kelly made their official visit to that council. There was a large representation from Betsy Ross Council of Poughkeepsie, Valley Forge Council, Columbia Council, Mystic Council present at the meeting, and also a large number of the members of Kingston Council. The spirit of fraternalism was very much in evidence and a very pleasant and profitable evening was enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Wednesday evening the state officers will pay an official visit to Esopus Council, No. 42. All members of the different councils are invited to be present at this meeting.

A very pleasant evening is looked for Friday night to the lawn party of the Reformed Church on the Salem street block. Mechanics' Band of Kingston will furnish the music and there will be home-made candy, cake, ice cream, watermelon and drinks on sale and mystery packages, the great attraction for the children. It is hoped the night will be clear and every one will come out and make this a social and financial success.

ANNOUNCEMENT

is sending her personal representative, who has had years of experience in the Arden Salon in New York, to visit our toilet preparations department.

MISS LEDA M. FYE

will be with us Every Day This Week.

Do come in for a private consultation without charge, and receive her personal advice on correct care and treatment of the skin. Come—learn the art of make-up—learn how to apply new Sun Tan Complexion and all the latest fads.

ROSE & GORMAN

ALL-STEEL REFRIGERATOR

sets new standard of

DURABILITY EFFICIENCY POPULARITY

An all-steel cabinet that cannot warp. A mechanism that is hermetically sealed, dust-proof and self-oiling. No wonder the General Electric Refrigerator has set new standards. It actually operates more quickly—it uses less current, it provides for maximum food storage.

Visit our display rooms and see the new all-steel models and learn how easily they may be bought with conveniently spaced, time payments.

There are now over 250,000 users of General Electric Refrigerators. Not one of them has ever spent a single dollar for repairs or service. That was our guarantee to them.
